Introduction

One of the oldest and most serious hardcore bondage sets the internet has ever known. Hog Tied brings you all the action any Dom could ever hope to learn from or any sub could ever want to pleasure herself to. Every kind of restraint, pain for pleasure, fetish flogging or wicked machine forced orgasm you have ever hoped to see is in these archives. No wonder this site has been around since 1997 and continues to flourish!

Adult Review

HogTied is one of the really notable smut sites on the internet. One of a select few that have stood the test of time and developed a loyal following of fans who are drawn to the genuine nature of the site itself. This is not a bunch of amateurs in some warehouse pretending to be into bondage, these are professionals who know as much about ropes, pain and power transfer role play as you know about your own occupation.

Every scene features new, creative and often inventive methods of pushing the model to her limits mentally and physically with a keen eye toward never breaking her spirit and never letting her off too easy either.

The locations selected for these scenes to be filmed are fantastic and really help to set the mood. The performers are hand-selected to make sure they are suitable for these kinds of scenes. All-stars of the B&D world like Dana Vispoli, Faith Leone and Ava Devine are all repeat performers. Plenty of new girls you have never seen before also make appearances in one scene or another.

The tools of the trade include ropes, whips, chains and all kinds of custom made devices specifically designed to enhance the experience of each willing model as she ventures down the dark path toward self-exploration and allows members of HogTied to come along with her to watch over her in her time of distress.

The one knock on the site is that HogTied uses a very basic black interface with minimal search functionality and style. TheTongue would have liked to see a more intricate page design to enhance the content of the site itself. There is a members only message board and comments posted by members for each update and it should be said they don't complain about the interface... but it's only one of the only flaws with the entire site so their contentment is not surprising.

At a price of $34.95 a month HogTied is more expensive than most other adult sites but when you see the content they provide and the budget their scenes require for props and locations it makes sense that they would charge a small amount more. If S&M bondage is your thing... HogTied is well worth looking into.

Porn Summary

Go ahead and stretch out in your seat to watching a scene in which the main performer can barely stretch out a single finger on either hand. These lovelies are restrained and violated in many ways but the pre-filming and post-filming behind the scenes interviews assure viewers that it is not only consensual role play but also a lot of fun for each of them!
